

Song

Helping Worker Song

(Used for the first week in conjunction with the focus on workers that help and the emergent reader Workers Who Help Us). Sung to the tune of Skip to My Lou.

I'll be a police officer keeping you safe
I'll be a police officer keeping you safe
I'll be a police officer keeping you safe
Driving in my police car

Other Verses

I'll be a paramedic saving you (repeat 2 times)
Driving in my ambulance

I'll be a firefighter putting out fires (repeat 2 times)
Driving in my fire truck

I'll be a teacher helping you (repeat 2 times)
Driving in my van

I'll be an astronaut flying in space (repeat 2 times)
Flying in my space shuttle

Song

Creative Worker Song

(Used for the second week in conjunction with the focus on workers that are creative and the emergent reader Creative Workers). Sung to the tune of My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean.

I like to draw in the morning
I like to draw at night
I like to draw all times of the day
An artist I will become

Artist, artist
An artist I will become, become
Artist, artist
An artist I will become

These verses can be repeated for singer, dancer, author (write), inventor (invent).

Song

Serving Others Song

(Used for the third week in conjunction with the focus being on workers that serve others and the emergent reader Serving Others). Sung to the tune of I'm a Little Teapot.

I could be a baker who bakes cakes
Here is my spoon and my bowl
When I serve you hear me say,
“Taste my delicious cake today!”

I could be a waiter who serves you
Here is my tray and menu, too
When I serve you hear me say,
“What would you like to eat today?”

I could be a grocer who sorts food
Here is the fruit and vegetables, too
When I serve you hear me say,
“How can I help you here today?”

Continued on the next page...